

President Obama nominates John Brennan as the next Director of the CIA

---

On January 7, 2013 President Obama announced his intent to nominate John Brennan, current deputy National Security Advisor for Homeland Security and Counterterrorism, as the new director of the Central Intelligence Agency. Read Director of National Intelligence James Clapper's statement on the nomination here.